ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

The Bachelor of Business Administration is designed to provide students with a rich, comprehensive, and challenging curriculum that encompasses the major fields of study in business management. Students take courses in several areas including Operations and Strategic Management, Marketing and Management, Finance, Economics, Quantitative Methods, and Leadership and Organizational Behavior.

COMMUNITY & HUMAN SERVICES

The Bachelor of Arts in Community and Human Services prepares students to matriculate into a graduate level program to pursue a career in service to others in individual or community settings. Through exposure to courses within sociology, psychology, and community and human services, students are able to understand the relationship between human needs and social conditions, master the art of advocacy, and integrate cultural competency with the foundational principles related to knowledge, skills, attitudes and values.

CONSERVATION BIOLOGY

The Bachelor of Science in Conservation Biology introduces students to scientific investigations into the untapped biodiversity of the Earth which have resulted in significant advancements in numerous fields, from farming and city planning, to innovations in renewable fuels and medicine. Vital to these investigations is the development and implementation of pragmatic approaches to managing biodiversity, including species and ecosystems management, captive breeding and reintroduction, genetic analysis and habitat restoration. The field of conservation biology accomplishes this by combining principles from multiple scientific disciplines (ecology, genetics, chemistry, taxonomy, physics and evolution) to develop plans and methods to do just that.

CONTEMPORARY JAZZ STUDIES

The Bachelor of Arts in Contemporary Jazz Studies offers foundational coursework designed to help students perform and manage careers as contemporary jazz practitioners. Students will cultivate musicianship and music literacy while developing a repertoire of contemporary and historical improvised and written music for live performance. Contemporary jazz studies students are required to study contemporary and creative perspectives of jazz in contexts that are visible, engaging, and socially relevant. The program equips students with fundamental jazz improvisation skills, and performance. Students collaborate with complementary disciplines, including music technology, dance, and improvisation performance varieties to prepare students for successful 21st century music careers.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

The Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice provides students with a fundamental understanding of the American criminal justice system, the institutions and personnel which comprise the criminal justice system, and the theories of crime causation, offending, and rehabilitation. Designed according to standards established by the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences, the degree requires students to apply this foundational knowledge to the problems and the changing landscape of the criminal justice system.

EXERCISE SCIENCE

The Bachelor of Science in Exercise Science prepares students for careers in the four principle fitness sectors of sport, industry, health, and education. Students take courses in anatomy and physiology, the biomechanics of human movement. The application of these concepts is applied to exercise and therapeutic rehabilitation to promote healthy lifestyle in individuals and communities.

LAW

The Bachelor of Arts in Law program prepares graduates to advance to law school or pursue other career opportunities requiring a solid foundation in law such as paralegals, legal administrative assistants, and legal interns. The program is designed to equip students with the skills necessary to be able to think critically, write competently and persuasively about legal issues, utilize technology to perform legal research, and conduct themselves ethically in their professional and personal lives.

LIBERAL ARTS

The Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts is designed to provide students with a curriculum that is broad, flexible, and challenging, and to provide the means for degree recipients to be liberally educated and recognize the interrelatedness of knowledge. Students take courses from five core areas: Communications, Social Sciences, Humanities, Critical Reasoning and Analytic Methods, Science, Technology and the Environment. The program culminates in an experiential educational component via a Senior Capstone Seminar and either an independent research project or a 90-hour internship.

ORGANIZATIONAL LEADERSHIP

The Bachelor of Arts in Organizational Leadership offers a comprehensive, interdisciplinary curriculum which prepares students to assume an advanced leadership role in their current or future organization. Students develop and articulate a personal leadership approach and philosophy through courses designed to analyze and evaluate leadership practices, philosophies and theories through application of each to real-world situations.

RADIO, TELEVISION, AND NEW MEDIA

The Bachelor of Arts in Radio, Television, and New Media prepares students for careers in all types of media production. Students will have the opportunity to script, produce, direct, edit, manage, program, promote and distribute media. This course of study provides students with an in-depth look at the convergence of media, balancing between theory and applied studies. The program culminates in a Senior Internship capstone course where students master the skills necessary to be competitive in today's market.

SPORT MANAGEMENT

The Bachelor of Science in Sport Management provides the student with academic preparation and practical training for the sports industry. The sport management degree is designed to provide students with rich, comprehensive and challenging curriculum that prepares them for a career in sports.

THEATRE

The Bachelor of Arts at Lincoln College recognizes that theatre is a temporal collaborative art form that requires, encourages and solicits a broad range of talents and skill sets. Theater's methodology is delicately balanced between a deep inheritance of tradition and a reliance on innovation and immediacy; a true theater artist must realize the history of the form to effectively produce within as well as challenge and subvert the form.

FINANCIAL AID

FINANCIALAID.LINCOLNCOLLEGE.EDU

The Office of Financial Aid works with students to facilitate the process of receiving financial assistance. At Lincoln College, financial assistance consists of scholarships, grants, loans, and student employment. Assistance may be offered to students in single form or various combinations. Remember to apply each year for financial aid at www.fafsa.ed.gov. The FAFSA is open for completion on the 1st day of October each year. Lincoln College school code is 001709.

GRANTS are a form of financial aid that does not need to be repaid.

-  Federal Pell Grant - awarded to any student filing a FAFSA who meets financial need and eligibility criteria as outlined through a federal formula.
-  Federal Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants (SEOG) - Grants are awarded to Pell Grant eligible applicants on a first-come, first-served basis until funds are exhausted.
-  VA Funding - is available to qualified veterans and dependents of qualified veterans.
-  Illinois State Monetary Award Program (MAP) - for eligible students who meet the State of Illinois deadline

SCHOLARSHIPS are a form of gift-aid and do not require repayment. These can be awarded based on merit, but also be awarded based on financial need. Criteria such as academic achievement or athletic ability may apply.

-  Academic Scholarships
-  Athletic Scholarships
-  Annual & Endowed Funded Scholarships
-  Private Scholarships (awarded by outside entities)

To view and learn how to apply for Annual & Endowed scholarships:

1. Go to financialaid.lincolncollege.edu
2. Click on "Scholarships & Grants" from the menu
3. Click on Annual and Endowed

LOANS are legal obligations that must be repaid. We encourage students to exhaust all other sources of aid first. Always remember to borrow responsibly.

-  Subsidized Federal Stafford Loans
-  Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans
-  Federal Direct Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS)
-  Private Educational Loans
-  Graduate Loans

Visit the studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types for more information regarding types of student aid.

FEDERAL WORK-STUDY EMPLOYMENT assists students with financial need by providing job opportunities that serve Lincoln College and the community. Work-study assignments are made based on financial need and student skills. Wages are based on the federal minimum wage and are paid twice monthly.

It is the student's responsibility to find an open position. Work-study is not a grant. Students should use the CareerLynx system (see pg. 30) to look up open positions and then contact the department to inquire about student employment.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS (SAP)

Federal regulations require that institutions monitor the academic progress of recipients of federal and state aid. Schools are required to withhold funds from students who do not make satisfactory and measurable progress toward their educational goal. Lincoln College students receiving Title VI (Pell Grant, SEOG Grant, Federal College Work-Study and all federal loans) and state funds (MAP Grant), whether or not they have received financial aid in the past, must meet the satisfactory progress. Satisfactory Academic Progress will be measured at the end of each semester. Students who fail to meet the minimum progress requirements will be placed on financial aid probation or suspension. First time Lincoln College students will be placed on probation after their first semester. For more information on SAP standards, please view the Academic Catalog at lincolncollege.edu/course-catalog.

*Important: If a student withdraws from classes or fails to attend a class for the term, eligibility for financial aid may be affected and may result in repayment of all or a portion of the student's financial aid. Remember to meet with your advisor and the financial aid office before considering a withdrawal from classes.

Verification: Some FAFSA's are selected for verification by the Department of Education. Verification must be completed before any financial aid can be disbursed on a student's account. If selected for verification you will be asked to log into MyLynx and select the "Verify my FAFSA" tab to create a log in. Once that is created, the information requested will display. We encourage students to call if assistance is needed.

HOW YOU REGISTER FOR MYLYNX WEB REGISTRATION CLASSES! STUDENTS.LINCOLNCOLLEGE.EDU

The next few pages offer instructions on how to use MyLynx student portal to register for courses via web. Students with questions or concerns about using MyLynx to register for their courses are invited to contact their Academic Advisor and/or the Office of the Registrar for assistance.

Accessing the "Add/Drop" Functions

Students are able to find and select courses for their schedule using one of four different methods:

- Under the "Add/Drop" area of the "Course Catalog" portlet (Courses & Academics tab)
 - Add by Course Code
 - Add by Reference #
 - Course Search
- From within the "My Degree Progress" portlet (Course & Academics tab)

To access "Add/Drop" area, select the "Courses and Academics" tab from the MyLynx header as shown to the right.

Once on the "Course & Academics" tab, scroll down until you see the "Course Catalog" portlet and click "Add/Drop" Courses".

This will open the view on the next page. Before choosing a method of registration, remember to change the Current Term pull-down so that it equals the Term for which you want to add courses. Most students will want to select the full "Year - Term" such as those listed below:

- (Academic Year) - Fall
- (Academic Year) - Spring
- (Academic Year) - Summer

Once you have the proper Current Term selected, you're ready to choose a course registration method from the tabs circled to the right

Registration through “Add by Course Code”

If you already know which specific courses you want to add, “Add by Course Code” may be the easiest registration method for you.

1. Change the Term to the one for which you want to add courses

2. Select the “Add by Course Code” tab

3. Enter catalog number and section you want to add (up to six courses)

4. Click “Add Course(s)” when ready

To add a course by the course code, just type the catalog number and section (for example, BUS 102 01) into one of the fields shown and click “Add Course(s).” You can add up to six courses at one time through this method. Once added, your courses will appear below the “Add by Course Code” view like so:

Your Schedule Drop	Code	Title	Schedule	Location	Credits	Credit Type	Division
	BUS 102 AA	THE AMERICAN ENVIRONMENT	R 5:30 PM - 9:30	Normal Campus Academic Building (Normal Campus)	110	3.00 Regular Credit	Undergraduate Degree
	BUS 106 AA	MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYS	W 5:30 PM - 9:30	Normal Campus Academic Building (Normal Campus)	118	3.00 Regular Credit	Undergraduate Degree
	BUS 202 AA	PRINCIPLES OF MANAGEMENT	W 5:30 PM - 9:30	Normal Campus Academic Building (Normal Campus)	114	3.00 Regular Credit	Undergraduate Degree

Registration through “Add by Reference #”

Using the Course Schedule booklet, you can also add courses by using their reference number. The reference number for a course is located just below the catalog number and just to the left of each individual section offered for that course

NOTICE THE REFERENCE NUMBER

Requ. #	Section	Instructor	Days	Beg Time	End Time	Beg/End Date	Bldg	Room
ART 111	3.00	ART APPRECIATION

34031	02	Staff	MWF	11:00 AM	11:50 AM	08/19/2019 12/14/2019	LIB	L1E

1. Change the Term to the one for which you want to add courses

2. Select the “Add by Reference #” tab

3. Enter the reference number

4. Click “Add Course(s)” when ready

Added courses will appear below the view as shown in the image to the right under “Add by Course Code”.

Registration through “Course Search”

Using “Course Search” you can search through the full schedule for a given term, selecting those you want to add by clicking a check box next to the particular section you wish to add. To start searching for courses, select “Course Search” tab in the “Add/Drop” view and enter the search criteria you want to use.

Selecting “More Search Options” expands the search criteria you can use as shown on the next page. Changing only the Term and clicking “Search” will return all of the courses available for that Term, allowing you to page through the schedule with courses listed alphanumerically by catalog number and section.

1. Select the “Course Search” tab

2. Enter the criteria you want to use
Remember to change the Term to equal the one for which you want to add courses.

3. Click “Search” to return results

Registration Errors and “Course Not Yet Registered” Messages

Occasionally, you may try to add a course and receive an “Unauthorized Course Entry” message. An “Unauthorized Course Entry” message could be triggered by several different conditions:

- You may not have a prerequisite or co-requisite requirement
- The course may meet at a location different from those for which you are authorized to register.
- You may have tried to add a course that conflicts with another, already registered, course.

When/if you do run into an “Unauthorized Course Entry” message, the message will display just above your registered courses and look like the image below:

Courses Not Yet Registered

We were unable to register you for one or more of the courses you attempted to add. Each one is listed below, with the relevant error(s) and the steps needed to add the course (if available).

Unauthorized Course Entry

Course: BUS 101 AA

Info: BUS 101 AA

Resolution: You are not authorized to register for this class at this time. If you believe you have received this message in error, please contact the office of the registrar.

OK

The message will indicate why you were not able to add the course and offer a suggestion on how to resolve the error. If you believe that the “Unauthorized Course Entry” message is itself an error, please consult with your academic advisor and/or the Registrar’s Office.

Advisor Approval

Once you are registered, your academic advisor will need to approve your schedule before it is considered “complete.” Your advisor may contact you with questions or concerns before approving your schedule, especially if your registered courses are different from the ones your advisor recommended. Please remember that you, as the student, are primarily responsible for course selection and making progress toward completion of your degree program. Departing from the course schedule worked out in partnership with your advisor may delay your graduation.

Dropping Registered Courses

In the event you need to drop one or more of your registered courses, you can do so from within the “Add/Drop” area of the “Course Catalog” portlet. As with each of the registration methods discussed on the previous pages, click on the “Add/Drop” button under “Add/Drop” to access the drop function.

OFFICE FOR DISABILITY SERVICES

LINCOLNCOLLEGE.EDU/ACADEMICS/RESOURCES/DISABILITY-SERVICES

Lincoln College is committed to providing equal access to all College programs and services. The mission of the Office for Disability Services (ODS) is to ensure full and equal participation for students with disabilities by providing facilitators, programs and services that will support and enhance an individual's ability to achieve their academic and personal goals. ODS is dedicated to encouraging self-advocacy, promoting equal access, and working with individuals to determine and establish appropriate accommodations.

A student with a disability who has been accepted to Lincoln College is encouraged to contact the Office of Disability Services. Students are not required to make this contact, nor will the contact force students to use accommodation services. However, if students wish to use disability-related accommodations at Lincoln College, they must complete the following four-step process:

1. Contact the Office of Disability Services
 2. Complete and submit registration documents at lcods.lincolncollege.edu and provide appropriate documentation to establish eligibility for services

NOTE: Documentation should come from the licensed, clinical professional who diagnosed or is treating the disability and should be recent enough to identify the current impact of the disability (generally within the past 3 to 5 years). The documentation should include a diagnostic statement identifying the disability, a description of the current impact of the disability, treatments currently in use, the expected progression of the disability over time, and recommendations on ways to mitigate the impact of the disability. Generally, a high school IEP or 504 plan does not constitute adequate documentation.
 3. Schedule an ODS intake interview to discuss the impacts of the disability, academic goals, an accommodation history, and accommodation process.
 4. Work with ODS to develop and accommodation plan. Upon student request, ODS will provide letters for instructors identifying the student's accommodations.
- More detailed information about the Office of Disability Services and the accommodation process is available online and in the ODS Student Handbook.

ACCESS PROGRAM

LINCOLNCOLLEGE.EDU/ACADEMICS/RESOURCES/DISABILITY-SERVICES

In addition to the services available through the Office of Disability Services, students who have a disability that impacts executive function (e.g., ADHD) may elect to enroll in the supplemental, fee-for-services Access Program.

The Access Program uses an established 3-pronged approach to build the foundation for academic success. Through a focus on academics, individual attention, and a personalized community of support, the Access Program has a demonstrable record of success.

Students in the program are paired with a professional Access Coach who meets with the student throughout the semester to provide guidance and support. Coaches keep abreast of students' academic progress as well as upcoming dates and deadlines and work with students to develop effective ways to approach assignments and projects. Additionally, Access Coaches maintain regular communication with the entire campus community and work closely with faculty to help keep students current with dates of assignments, tests, and course expectations. Coaches also provide parents regular electronic updates on their student's academic progress.

For more information, please visit the Access Program web page: access.lincolncollege.edu.

CREEKSIDE

LINCOLNCOLLEGE.EDU/WELCOME/CAMPBELL-CREEKSIDE-CENTER

Creekside, Lincoln College's Outdoor Center for Environmental Education, is an innovative 104-acre educational site recognized by the scientific community for its biological diversity and geological and archeological significance. The Center features a lecture pavilion, insectarium, greenhouse, restored tall grass prairie, native gardens, demonstration pond, counsel ring fire pit, solar and wind energy developments, storm water management and rain garden, nature trails and access to Sugar Creek.

In addition to being used for Lincoln College science curriculum, Creekside is available to area educators for teaching students of all ages about land use, environmental science and conservation, research projects, and to the general public for walking and recreation.

Creekside has free parking and portable restroom facilities. Boardwalks and sidewalks make the site accessible.

PEOPLE OF THE PAST BOARDWALK

A key feature of Creekside is the "People of the Past Boardwalk" project which is an accessible interpretive trail to transport visitors hundreds of years into the past. As persons walk along the boardwalk, they also walk back in time from the present. The first phase of the project showcases pioneer and Kickapoo and Mississippi Native American cultures. Eventually, the boardwalk will extend back to the era of the woolly mammoth. Currently the boardwalk extends to the Wibben Overlook that gives visitors an elevated vantage point to view Sugar Creek.

WOOLLY MAMMOTH DISCOVERY

DIRECTIONS

Creekside is located along Sugar Creek, about five miles north of Lincoln at 1234 County Road 2000N. Directions: From I-55 take exit 133 toward Lincoln. Turn left onto North Lincoln Parkway and travel three miles. Turn right on 1250th Ave. (Nicholson Road) and travel 3.1 miles (passing over I-55, past the Epperson Subdivision and over Kickapoo Creek). Turn left on 2000th St. (the second left after Kickapoo Creek) and travel about half a mile. Turn right onto the gravel road marked Small-Edwards Trace that leads to Creekside.
